REPUBLICANS

Discuss Distribution of Pio and Will Give Postmastership to Ross.

Bingham Press Still Trying to Explain Why Beckham Did Not Win.

Inspector James Shows Only Loser in King Case Were the Taxpayers.

THE KEYSTONERS HIT TRAIL

With the echoes of victory just dying away the Republicans in Louisville and Kentucky have begun to divide the spoils, or at least come to some agreement in the division. Tobe Hert, the big Republican boss of the State, will not have the call as some seem disposed to think, first because he was not a Harding man originally and secondly because Kentucky was carried by Cox when the Republicans carried Tennessee and every other questionable or doubtful State in this section. Tobe may get some minor position if he wants it, but will not be strong enough to land a position in the cabinet which he would most desire. Senator-elect Richard P. Ernst, because of his seat in the Senate for six years to come will be the foremost tower of strength in the State, with Maurcio Galvin, of Newport, his closest friend to advise him and help distribute the pie. Ernst and Galvin will furnish the strong combination while Tobe Hert and his aide Chas. Searcy will get the next call. Gov. Morrow, the ballyhooing orator, will not receive much consideration as even the Republicans seem to realize that "Howdy Ed" is in the featherweight division as a statesman.

Congressman Osgood from this district, who is a pretty wise politician and a likable fellow personally will, by the virtue of his second term, have some weight with the incoming administration. First and foremost, Chief of Police Ludlow Petty, who has served and worked for three years in trying to "buy" the public into believing that the "yes" motorists and conductors were real cowboys, has an eye on the Collectorship. Next comes Sheriff Ross whom the Hert-Chilton-Searcy machine wants to pacify and get out of the mayoralty race. Ross is slated for Postmaster and it is related that he preferred the appointment of United States Marshal, but to this the G. O. P. bosses objected. As Sheriff Ross was too fond of raiding handbook and gambling games where the proprietors were working politicians in the Republican organization. Nay, nay, the machine will never stand for Sheriff Ross in a position with police or arresting powers again. Then again Sheriff Ross is in bad with the 30,000 colored Republicans in this district and this big power in the Republicans ranks has sensed notice that Ross must not be on the city or county ticket next year.

It is downright amazing to read in the Bingham press just why Senator Beckham was defeated in the recent election and we are told that the mountain district was solely responsible for that defeat. But neither the "Allbl" performers in the Courier-Journal and Times have attempted to explain why Gov. Cox was not beaten the same way. The returns show that Beckham was scratched in every district by independent Democrats, but on the face of the return it can not show that thousands of Democrats voted the straight Republican ticket, not risking the chance of losing their vote, and to insure that it would be counted against Beckham. Gov. Cox should have carried Kentucky by 25,000 at least as all good political critics say, and was only held to narrow margin of victory by the heavy handicap of Beckham. As stated before voters can not be easily persuaded to scratch ballot and the history of Louisville and Kentucky elections shows that scratched ballots in a State or city election are few and far between. Yet the recent election returns show that scratched ballots against Beckham ran into the thousands and broke all records.

It proved conclusively that the Democratic voters, Friends of Irish Freedom and others were tired of Beckham and the Haly-Beckham regime. That the Irish voters did not forget Beckham's course is attested to by the returns from Irish districts, Portland and Limerick precincts in this city turning in record number of anti-Beckham Democratic ballots. The Bingham papers made a fight for Beckham's election and the Kentucky Irish American opposed him warmly and for that victory we have received many telegrams. As a Democratic paper that fought for the party year in and year out we opposed his nomination and the statement in these columns last spring that a Senatorship would be wasted here has come to pass. If it is the end of the Haly-Beckham influence in the party it is all for the best.

Every citizen and taxpayer must read the report of State Inspector James as to the conduct of the office of Tax Commissioner King, who resigned recently while under fire. As an "explainer" you'll have to hand it to Inspector James. In speaking of Attorneys George Dailey and Edward G. Hill, who were on the payroll as deputy county assessors, he says that he knew both were out campaigning in the fall of 1919 (thus assessment season), but that is a precedent which the Inspector does not deal with, and the Inspector had no criticism to make. But the sad, sad part of Inspector James' report, and which one must weep over is the pathetic story of Chas. Searcy's secretary, Miss Gillem, and his brother, Stanley Searcy. Both were away from the office for several months, yet their salaries went on just the same, the taxpayers paying the freight. Inspector James says it was an unfortunate case—it was, for the taxpayers. Another little sob story is the pathetic case of Deputy Assessors Sam English and H. D. Steeden, who were accused of having other employment. Inspector James says that these two industrious gentlemen used their two weeks' vacation time to peddle candy for their boss, Mr. King. Messrs. English and Steeden ought to be praised for their industry and it is now up to the other deputies to show merit by selling papers or shining shoes while on their vacation. Virtue has its own reward, and no doubt Inspector James will especially comment on the candy peddlers.

Tuesday night was a big night at the Gypsy Smith Tabernacle, where Gypsy Smith, the evangelist, is holding revival meetings. Over 200 of our Keystone police and firemen hit the trail and the Herald tells us that the orchestra played "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight" and "Love Lifteth Me." It does seem to an outsider as if the orchestra leader missed his cue. "When Reuben Comes To Town" would have been more appropriate for the Keystoneans, while "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" would have fitted the firemen, the latter just having one more big fire with a total loss to their credit, the Louisville Rendering Company losing $57,000 while our "efficient" fire department was playing "I Spy" looking for the water plugs as usual. "Thank God," said the evangelist to see all of these Christian men in uniform as it means a clean city. On the stage were near Mayor Smith, Chisholm and Chief Neuschwander. How the smokers in the back row must have chuckled when the reverend man spoke about a clean city, when even the kids know that Louisville today furnishes more bootlegging joints and more gambling in soft (?) dring stands than at any time since the war. The Republican machine and the few wise police are protecting more gambling games than the boasted Monte Carlo. Someone like Brother M. P. Hunt ought to take Gypsy Smith on a slumming tour.

Do you notice how quickly the Keystone police department drops all mention of a murder case, never even securing a clue. The Straley case was the latest to follow all of the other murder mysteries under the Keystone sign, and just as in the Griffith murder, the Lovell murder, the Younce murder, the army Lieutenant murder, the five negro murders, the murderers are still at large. And to add insult to injury Straley's $600 diamond pin was stolen after the police arrived on the scene and never recovered. Some police ability, eh? One of the mounted Keystoneans came near making an important capture the other night on Spring street. He halted a messenger boy and demanded where he was going. The boy said he was going with a message. The Keystonean said: "Goddam you, don't get gay with me; what is the message?" The wise kid laughed in the comedy cop's face and said: "Come and ask the people who are going to get the message, maybe they will tell you." Another of the mounted Keystoneans lost his horse last week and the animal was recovered by the Jeffersonian police. Some seem to think that the army of wicked crooks in our midst stole the horse from right under the ox-street car man. Wouldn't he be surprising.

YOUNG LADIES' PARTY.
Miss Elizabeth Doherty, sister of Rev. Bernard I. Doherty, newly appointed pastor of St. Ann's church, was entertained with a banquet Friday evening by the young ladies of the parish. The following were present: Rev. Father Doherty, Misses Elizabeth Doherty, Norena Kordes, Delta Murphy, Ida Schoneman, Loretta Guelia, Lena Zax, Barbara Brodfehr, Marie Hotelich, Katherine Norton, Mary Murphy, Mary Kauffman, Pearl De Witt, Alma Schoneman, Gertrude Brodfehr, Blanche Guthrie, Teresa Kauffman, Minnie Vordelock, Blanche O'Brien, Anna Zax, Eleanor Norton, Clara Rohrman, Jimima Brown, Alma Kordes, Teresa Rohrman, Loretta Murphy, Catherine Vordelock, Anna Harlan, May Hotelich, Ester Norton.

FORTY HOURS' DEVOTION.
Forty Hours' devotion will open at the Church of Our Lady with high mass at 9:30 Sunday, November 14. The usual and impressive procession of the Blessed Sacrament will be on Sunday and Tuesday the closing of the devotion. The solemn vespers will be at 7:30 p. m. Sunday. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Father Martin, of St. Patrick's. For the occasion the pastor will be assisted by Fathers Walsh, of the Sacred Heart, and Smith, of the Cathedral. Each morning communion will be administered at 5:30, 6 and 6:30. The high mass Monday and Tuesday will be at 8 o'clock.

WISE KID.

In an infant school the teacher chose the miracle of the water being turned into wine as the subject of the usual Bible lesson. In telling the story she occasionally asked a few questions. One of them was:

"When the new wine was brought to the governor of the feast, what did he say?"

A little girl, remembering what she had heard, probably on some festive occasion, called out: "Hors' luck!"

spector does not deal with, and the Inspector had no criticism to make. But the sad, sad part of Inspector James' report, and which one must weep over is the pathetic story of Chas. PUTTING THINGS OFF.

There are so many glad things you are going to do—when you get home. A prominent lawyer once told us of his little boy of six. He was very proud of his papa, and never got chance enough to play with him. This little boy wanted very much to go out to the Zoo and see the animals, and his papa said that he would take him. So off they went. But the lawyer was busy. He never could spare the time. He was working, working, at his office, to make money so that some day the little boy could get an education and have all manner of advantages. He never seemed to find time for that.

"About ten years ago," he said, "I started the hospital with only a few hundred dollars. I was confident from the beginning it would be a success for I planned under the patronage of St. Joseph, who was himself a poor carpenter and who understood the miseries of the poor. I told Our Divine Lord that I was opening the hospital and orphanage in order to help the poor and lead them to Him; that I had no money, but that I had faith in His goodness and mercy; that I trusted in Him and in St. Joseph, and that I was sure they would supply everything that was needed. And thanks be to God and to St. Joseph, the work has never wanted for anything. What you see has been done by them. Do not congratulate me, for I had practically nothing to do with it. I began with nothing; I have nothing now; and I shall continue with nothing ever since."

The hospital smiled grimly. "And the third time you go," he said, "they throw dust on you."

NEVER WENT TO CHURCH.

A bishop had asked a minor why he never went to church, and his reply was: "Why, you see, sir, it's like this—the first time I went to church they threw water in my face and the second time they tied me to a woman and I've had to keep her ever since."

The bishop smiled grimly. "And the third time you go," he said, "they throw dust on you."

ception on Wednesday morning. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Anna Lynch of Syracuse, and Mrs. John Martin of Buffalo, and one brother, William M. Higgins, editor of the Kentucky Irish American. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins and son, Joseph N. Higgins, attended the funeral.

IRELAND

did not know, but one thing I did know—Our Blessed Lord and St. Joseph would certainly not fail the poor. They laughed. But they laugh no more, for the hospital and orphanage are standing proofs of the mercy I spoke of.

The pagans came to see it, and gave me thousands of dollars. Most of the money came from pagans. One of them, a rich man, came to the Isolation Hospital and was cured. He was told there was no bill. The next day a check came from him for several thousand dollars.

"I will tell you," he continued, "why so many things fail—because God gives no chance to help them. If you have a great deal of money at the beginning, you attribute a little initial success to yourself, and you take no account of God. You then become proud, put on airs, and then you become hateful to God, both yourself and your work. He will not bless it, and in a little while it fails. But if you start with nothing, and then succeed, unless you be a thorough fool, you will give all the glory to Him, and He continues to bless it. There is one way of succeeding in God's work—begin with nothing; and continue with nothing. Money brings a blight on everything, and the richer you get the slower you will do his work."

Breakfast over, he showed us round the institutions—built and supported, he may say, by the wonderful faith of the poor. They cover several acres of ground. The buildings are Sino-European, plain and substantial. No particular plan seems to have been followed. One house after another was erected apparently as the need called for it. In all it takes care of about eight hundred people. The Sisters of Charity are in charge, and the Chinese doctor who attends gives his services free. Mr. Loh visits every Wednesday and remains there all the forenoon. He looks through every ward, becomes acquainted with all the new patients, and spends an hour or two instructing those who are preparing for baptism. Even the morning we visited St. Joseph's he did not omit this; it was a pleasure to sit in the church and listen to this successful business man explain the importance of his converts to his converts.

It would be impossible for me here to describe St. Joseph's in detail. The wards, both for men and women, are beautifully clean, large and airy. A portion of the hospital is set apart for convalescents and provision made for reading, sewing and other light occupations. At the end of each ward there is a small room or alcove, and here an altar is fitted up. A patient in danger of death is taken to this room, and there confession may be heard with absolute privacy. The priest may say mass there or administer the last sacraments. The idea is a splendid one; any priest who has any experience in hearing confessions in a hospital will see at a glance, and I would recommend it to some of our Catholic hospitals in the United States.

In one of the buildings there are wards for sick prisoners, where Mr. Loh gathers here from the Chinese prisons of the city. It is pitiful to see these outcasts of humanity, unfortunate with whom life has dealt harshly. Many of those I saw will never rise from their beds, and it is amongst these Mr. Loh loves to work; to teach them their first notions of God and mercy. Some I saw with crime stamped on their very faces, evil looking men, criminals through and through. They insult Mr. Loh, but he never once wears; he always returns, and is frequently rewarded by converts and baptism.

Another section has its wards for lunatics. Some of them are quite harmless, but others have to be kept in close confinement. One man had a mind for English, and I was served by two little Chinese boys whose pronunciation of the Latin and serving were remarkably good.

Father Flanigan, at Mr. Loh Pe Hong's request, celebrated a Missa Cantata which was served by Mr. Loh Pe Hong himself. Mr. Nicholas Tau, and four boys. The men wore surplices over their graceful Chinese costumes, while the altar boys dressed in blue cassocks and lace collars. The choir was composed of forty Chinese children—all orphans. It was delightful to listen to the little fellows singing the Gregorian music. About four hundred people attended mass, and at intervals chanted their prayers with that peculiar rising and falling intonation which one hears in all the Catholic churches in China.

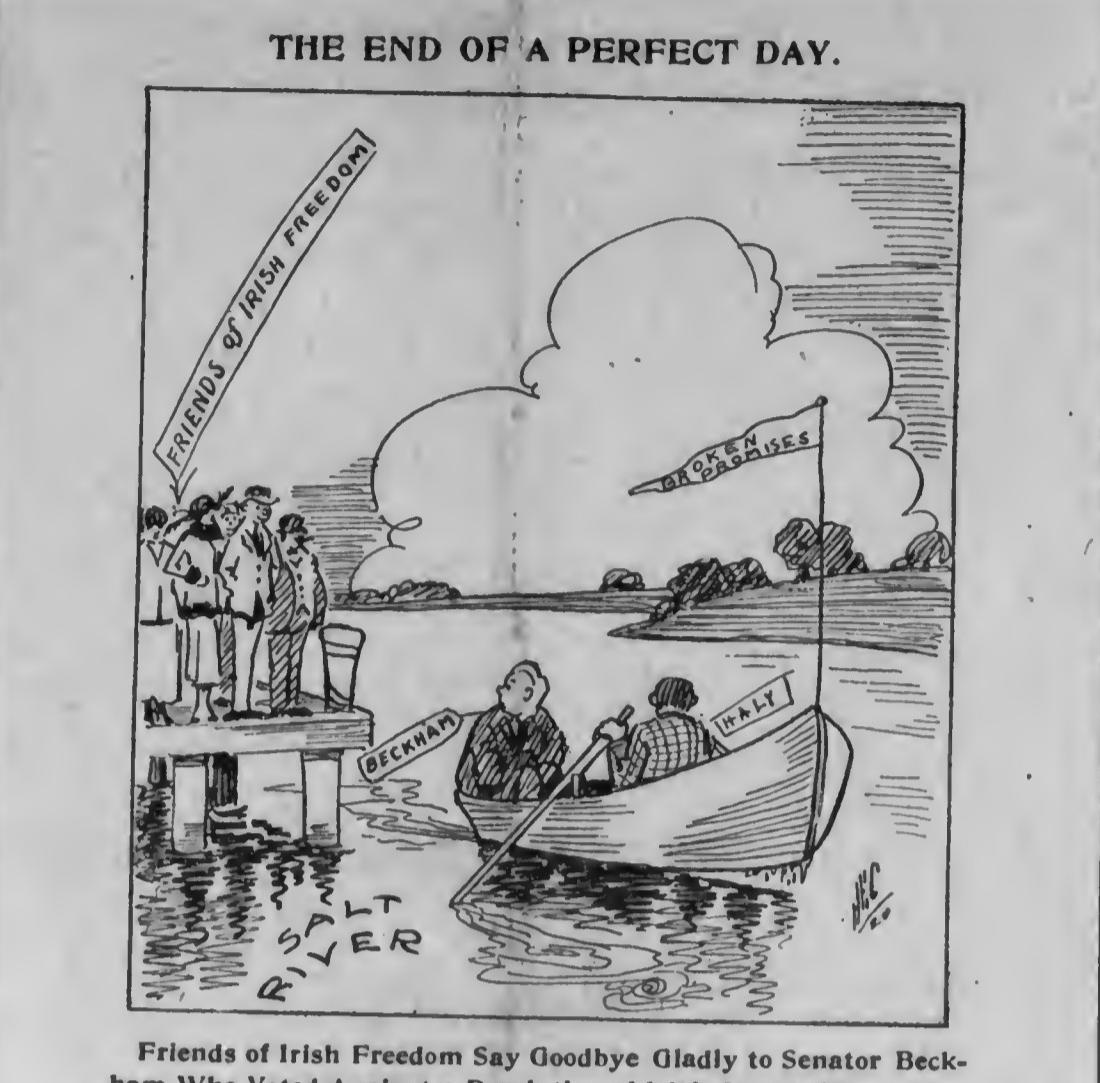

After mass we had breakfast with Mr. Loh, Mr. Tau, together with Mr. Ying and his son. During our conversation, Mr. Loh gave us the history of the hospital which was fifty years old and was ordained to the priesthood at St. Joseph's College, Troy, N. Y., in 1894. Father Higgins was a visitor to Louisville several years ago, and during his stay won many friends by his jolly and whole souled manner. He was a native of Syracuse, N. Y., the funeral taking place in that city from the Church of the Immaculate Con-

Numerous raids were carried out in Dublin this morning. The printing establishment of Patrick Mahon, where the Sinn Fein organ, Young Ireland, is published, was searched and documents removed. Mahon was arrested. His associates dismantled the machinery and ordered the plant closed.

The district hall at Gorvagh, County Tyrone, was burned at dawn today by a band of uniformed men. Yesterday morning vacant police barracks in the town of Gorvagh were burned.

The Midland Railway has given a fortnight's notice to its 3,000 employees of termination of service and announces that it will not carry live-stock after Monday. The Midland's difficulties, arising from the dispute regarding the hauling of munitions, have been complicated by a strike of engineers, but all the railway companies except the Great Northern are gradually being strangled by the suspension of guards and drivers refusing to take part in military traffic.

Many districts, notably Limerick, are virtually isolated and a complete stoppage of railway services outside Ulster apparently is inevitable.

Employment Bureau Is Doing Wonderful Work For Former Service Men.

Appeal To Employers To Give Consideration To Men's Unsettled Nature.

French Government Decorates Ten Directors of the Knights of Columbus.

K. OF C. SCHOOLS ARE BUSY.

A new low record was established in the employment work for former service men during the past week, twenty-two Knights of Columbus free employment bureaus, in the Eastern-Northeastern States reporting that 1,849 men had been placed. Supreme Secretary William J. McGinley, who made the report, stated that the figures bear out his recent prophecy of a trend towards wide unemployment.

"Our bureaus report 3,233 opportunities having been afforded to 3,773 former service men, only 1,849 of whom could qualify for the jobs. And it must be remembered that we will not solicit a job paying less than $20 per week for a single man without dependents. One of the greatest difficulties encountered is the 'we is over' attitude. The war is not over by any means for thousands of young men who have been unable to settle themselves in business or industry. We are training thousands in our free night schools, and it would help greatly if employers would seriously consider trained men could give ex-service men temporary employment in minor capacities while the K. of C. free night schools instructed them for the jobs calling for training.

"The Knights of Columbus campaign is not intended to combat radical opinion so much as to preach the principle of the happy medium," Secretary McGinley announces. "Our 100 K. of C. free night schools and our general educational work all fit into the plan to disseminate knowledge of broad Americanism. We reach 100,000 persons a week with this work."

EXPOSED TO WORLD.

When the Committee of One Hundred representative citizens meet in session to hear Ireland's stories of England's reign of crime in Erin then brutal England will be held up to the scorn of the civilized world. The committee is composed of all creeds and nationalities and this is the first time with the exception of the hearing before the Congressional Committee of Foreign Affairs that the relation of John Bull's criminal history in Ireland will be published to the world. Day by day to every part of the globe leaks out the stories of murder, arson, rape and pillage by England's uniformed cut-throats and assassins and she stands acknowledged guilty by the jury of the people. Everyone realizes what a farce it was when Great Britain pictured herself as the friend of small nations, and wept crocodile tears over Belgium.

HARD LOSERS.

The Tory press of the United States is taking the defeat of the League of Nations very hard, especially so when they discovered what keen suffering it has caused England. The English press is very bitter over the result, and like the pro-English on this side dread a separate peace with Germany. The defeat of the League of Nations can not be construed in any other way than that it was the voice of the American people against an alliance with Great Britain, and the voters registered their protest against any alliance which would mean more hogwash conquests and domination by John Bull. As for Governor Cox there is universal praise and all realize that the election meant no personal defeat for him or the Democratic party, but the men and women of the United States have realized that a union with England meant that we would be a partner to her in her dastardly crimes and criminal rule in Ireland, India, Egypt or wherever the British flag flew. The sorrow of the Tory press in America is additionally so because it means possibly a diminution of the Lord Northcliffe propaganda fund.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING.

Co-operative marketing, which has long been one of the chief points in social reform programmes of Catholics both in Europe and the United States, received special recommendation in the second meeting in Washington of farm organizations called to fight the declining prices of farm products. New laws serving the farmers' need for short time credit and the development of foreign trade were urged upon the Government by the farmers, but special emphasis was laid upon co-operative marketing societies. All farmers were urged to join marketing organizations or if none such were available to form them, the aim being to take the marketing system out of the hands of the bankers and middlemen. Co-operative societies among farmers as well as among consumers have been advocated by Catholics prominent in social reform movements both here and abroad. Some time ago the National Catholic War Council published for free distribution a pamphlet on "Co-operation Among Farmers and Consumers," for the purpose of spreading more widely the facts about the need of co-operation and the methods of obtaining it.

In Europe strong co-operative societies have frequently been the means of strengthening parish life. The greater prosperity of the farmers has lessened emigration and has opened new opportunities for parish activities. In this country parish schools can be more easily obtained through the prosperity that comes from strong co-operative societies. The close union of the farmers in their economic dealings will give them the incentive and will train them to work together more harmoniously in many ways. As in Europe the drift of the farmer to the city (which is the emigration problem of our rural districts) will be retarded.

A SILVER LINING.

One of the results of the election that all fair-minded people can unite in rejoicing over is that the attempt of bigots and sneaking politicos to agitate religious prejudice fell flat. There was an attempt to arouse the Masons against the Catholics, the Catholics against their fellow-Protestant citizens and the Jews against one of the political parties. It is

The Lord Mayor died as he said he would die. What is one window more in the morn? "Blood on your hands!" his kinsmen cry, "Ye who have slain, and we who would scorn. Who are the next ye would crucify? Mothers in rags, or the babes newborn?"

The Lord Mayor went on a phantom ship—Ship of Death with its saile sail. Over the moor the storm clouds dip; Over the seas the storm winds wall; "Knight of the Free, thy soul will Solace that flows from the Holy Grail."

The Lord Mayor broke no traitor's bread.

Hunger was stalking in robes of pain.

Wasted in body, his heart was fed—Fed by the blood of no coward strain.

Laugh with the Pharisees: "He's dead."

Christ's brave side is pierced again.

The Lord Mayor died as he said he would die—Up with your bingebones, ye Black and Tan!

Burn with the torch and redder the sky;

Sack the homes of the freeman's clan!

Blood on her hands and blood in her eye,

Britain has murdered another man!

BLAKELY TO LECTURE. — Paul L. Blakely, Ph. D., will deliver a lecture at the Knights of Columbus Hall at 8 p. m. Sunday, November 21, on the Smith-Towner hill now pending in the Senate, which aims to give the control of our schools into the hands of the Federal Government and take from the States this right which they have exercised since the beginning of our history. Dr. Blakely is widely known as one of our most distinguished publicists. In this lecture he sets forth clearly the dangers this bill carries to our personal liberty. It is to every citizen's interest to be clearly advised as to the terms and aims of this bill. This lecture is free to the public. All are cordially invited to attend.

This is the bill which was introduced in the United States Senate by Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, and in the Lower House by Congressman H. M. Towner, of Iowa.

Easing the Rush Hour Jam

OUR HARDEST PROBLEM IS AT RUSH HOURS.

The problem of handling traffic comfortably and with dispatch at a time when Mr. Hurry and all his relatives want to ride has never been solved satisfactorily by any railway company and probably can not be.

But we do try. We keep accurate records showing the amount of travel on every line at all hours of the day and, where we find crowded conditions on any line, we adjust the service.

We make accurate and regular measurement of the traffic flow and operate sufficient cars to handle traffic during the rush hours, with comfort and dispatch closely approximating conditions of normal service.

Unavoidable conditions frequently play smash with schedules. Instead of the cars coming at regular intervals of two or three minutes, they sometimes come in bunches. Then the Hurry Family gets busy. They make a grand rush for the first car and overerowd it. And when a car is overerowed more stops are necessary, more time is consumed by passengers in alighting, and minutes are added to the trip-time.

When a man helps overcrowd a car at rush hours he forces all the cars including his own into low gear. And the cars behind usually show empty seats. The Hurry Family, seeking to save a minute, loses two or three and also sacrifices comfort.

Try waiting for the car behind when the car you want is already carrying capacity load. You will get home just as quickly and more comfortably and you will help us maintain good service for all.

Help others and you help yourself.

Wait a minute and save two or three.

BLOW TO PREJUDICE.

One of the most remarkable things in the recent election was the great victory in Michigan over the bigots who tried to put over the constitutional amendment to knock out parochial schools. They were defeated by an overwhelming majority.

The great leader in the fight for liberty of education was Bishop Gallagher. When the amendment was submitted which would require all children between the ages of five and sixteen years to be sent to the public schools, Bishop Gallagher saw what it meant and he began his great fight for his people, like a true shepherd of the flock. Lutherans and Episcopalians joined the Catholics of Michigan resisting the proposed amendment, which was to be placed on the ballot. A case was submitted to Attorney General Grosbeck (Rep.) and he decided that the amendment was unconstitutional and could not go on the ballot. Then the bigots took it to the Supreme Court and by a bare majority the Supreme Court decided it should go on the ballot. In the meantime Grosbeck was nominated for Governor by the Republicans and he was bitterly opposed by all bigots in Michigan because of the decision he had rendered. As election came on Bishop Gallagher organized a series of great meetings throughout Michigan, culminating on Sunday in a wonderful demonstration in Detroit, in which over 50,000 Catholic school children marched accompanied by the Sisters who teach them. There were also Lutheran and Episcopalian school children in line. Both candidates for Governor, Grosbeck (R.) and Ferris (D.) were against the amendment. The Republicans carried Michigan by a tremendous vote and Grosbeck was elected by over 400,000 majority. The bigots' amendment was defeated by more than one to one, the majority in Detroit again being nearly three to one. Bishop Gallagher is National Chaplain of the A. O. H. and National President of the Friends of Irish Freedom.
